Being selected for this new role of Council President is a wonderful and humbling opportunity. I think this Council has made great strides in recent years toward improving infrastructure, implementing measures to make our public services more efficient and collecting valuable information to determine the priorities of our residents. We have engaged in important conversations with the public on some of the most challenging issues facing San Diego, and I want to translate those words into actions.

One of those challenges is the growing homeless population in San Diego. This is something that affects everyone, from residents, to business owners, and of course to those forced to seek shelter under bridges and in canyons. In order to begin truly addressing the situation we must have a dialogue, then work together to take action. That is why I plan to call a Special Meeting of the City Council in 2017 including key stake holders to address this issue.

Closely related to homelessness, is the ongoing housing crisis in our city. This crisis however, has to do with both an affordable housing shortage and a lack of housing affordability, caused by a shortage of market rate housing. On this issue, I plan to call a separate Special City Council Meeting in 2017 to bring these parties together and have public input on solutions to reducing the cost of affordable housing and expanding housing development opportunities.

Public safety is another area where we need to step up and work together. Recently, we re-established the Citizens Advisory Board on Police and Community Relations, and that is an important step in the right direction. I look forward to working with my Council colleagues, our community relations officers and the Citizens Advisory Board to improve community relations with the police, and ensure all San Diegans have access to the protections they deserve.

Finally, I plan to work hand-in-hand with my colleagues at City Hall, recognizing the valuable traits and leadership that my fellow Councilmembers and the Mayor have to offer the city of San Diego and its diverse communities. We have many issues to tackle and significant challenges ahead of us, but I look forward to working with everyone to improve the quality of life throughout San Diego's nine Council districts.
